This week in Class...

Attendance

This week in Class RR we have been reading 'The Storm Whale in Winter' by Benji Davies. We have a lighthouse role play area and have enjoyed acting out the story. We have made some fantastic lighthouse models and one of our challenges has been to make a simple circuit to light a bulb.

As part of our topic work, we have found out lots of facts about whales which we thought we'd share with you:

"Whales are mammals." - Jeffrey

"Whales spray water from their blow hole." - Nancy

"They have lungs not gills." - Madison

"They eat fish." - Finley

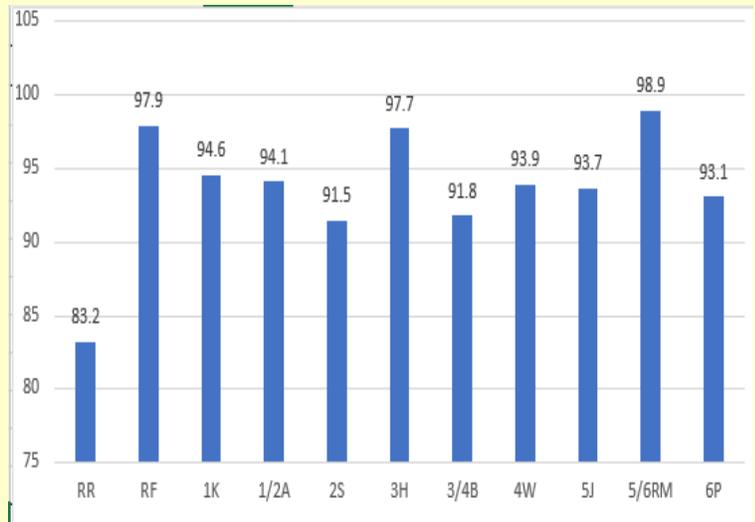

"Their tail fin flaps up and down." - Destiny

"They're warm blooded." - Toby

We have also been investigating ice and freezing water in different shapes as in the story the sea was frozen. We also got very excited when it started to snow on Tuesday!

This week in 4W we have been looking at the human digestive system. We have tracked food from when it enters our mouth, all the way to going to the toilet! Lily-Rae was our volunteer to be our 'class food' and we tracked her journey through the organs and learnt what their function is.

Lily-Rae: "It was really fun to learn the journey that food takes through our bodies".

Congratulations to class 5/6RM who were the highest attending class last week.

Unfortunately, last weeks overall attendance was only 94% which is below the national average.

Book Door Competition Update!

The Book-Door Competition has gotten off to a great start.

Keep your eyes peeled in The Warrington Guardian for coverage on the competition and don't forget to vote via the links on our twitter and facebook pages.
