This week in 3H...

This week 3H have been practicing ready for their keyboard assembly next Monday. We are very excited to show the parents everything we have been learning. In maths, we have been looking at properties of shapes and 3H have worked really hard drawing their own shapes and labelling the different features on them. They have written fantastic diary entries in English.

Book review of the week...

Book Review by Solav Hassan

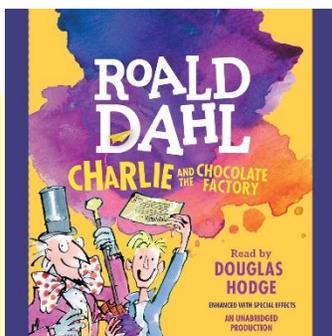

Title: Charlie and the Chocolate Factory

Author: Roald Dahl

This book is about 5 children entering a chocolate factory and which child will be honest and loyal. Whoever wins gets the whole chocolate factory and can live there with their family.

I would recommend this book because it is very creative and suitable for all ages. It has a lot of comedy action.
